But Moors Have Built Subterranean Passages and Loss of Life is Not Great

NAVY TO CONCERN RATE AT MELILLA

At Alcehumas the Moors Tried to Prevent Landing of Supplies, but were Finally Repulsed—Spanish Artillerymen and Manipulation of Modern Guns Difficult—Ministerial Crisis Possible.

Madrid, Aug. 12.—All the vessels of the Spanish navy have received orders to concentrate at Melilla, Morocco, where a Spanish force of about 35,000 men, under the command of General Marina, is confronted by a strong body of Moors, who resent Spain's punitive expedition for the murder of eight Spanish laborers by the Moors some time ago.

Ministerial Crisis Possible.

The Herald today says that a ministerial crisis is possible because of strained relations between the minister of the interior and the minister of war, who, during the recent disorders at Melilla, gave different instructions diametrically opposed.

Premier Maura was questioned today regarding the possibility of a ministerial crisis.

The Moors made an attempt last night to cut the Spanish railroad. Searchlights, however, revealed their purpose, and they were driven back. There is no evidence thus far of the beginning of General Marina's march into the interior.

Bombarding Mt. George.

The Spanish artillery continues to bombard Mt. George, the headquarters of the Moors' army, with heavy guns. French construction have arrived here, but the Spanish artillerymen are having considerable difficulty in learning how to manipulate them.

It is explained that General Marina's advance has been delayed in order to permit of the complete organization of the Spanish army.

Enemy Kept Up Constant Fire.
Akehuama, Morocco, Aug. 12.—The enemy kept up a constant fire last night upon the Spanish forces. This morning the steamer Sevilla, carrying provisions and ammunition, arrived escorted by the gunboat Almoraz. The Moors then directed their efforts toward preventing the landing of the supplies. At first they were successful, but finally the combined fire of the Pinzon and the forts.

Two Cases in Worcester Puzzling to Medical Fraternity.
Worcester, Mass., Aug. 13.—The attention of the medical fraternity in this city is concentrated on the cases of two persons in Worcester hospitals

The facts pointing to alleged frauds are known to Secretary Ballinger and Fred Dennett, commissioner of the general land office. More than 200,000 acres of rich coal lands in Alaska, some of them having veins sixty-five feet in thickness, have been sold upon by dummy claimmen, procured through agents of six large corporations, the land office has evidence to believe according to information made public. The view of Commissioner Dennett as given out is that all entries found to be fraudulent should be null and void at once.

One of the coal companies involved in the alleged fraud is located in Seattle, Wash., in the person of J. J. McHugh, who has offices in San Francisco, Omaha and Chicago. The so-called dummy entries were made in the name of the company, the docks of Seattle, the mines of Butte and from the laboring classes of Chicago.

GAVE FIANCÉE $1,000.

Georgia Man Sues for Its Return Because Girl Refuses to Marry Him

Lawrenceville, Ga., Aug. 13.—Alleged

The most peculiar and baffling of the cases of the city of Atlanta is that of Jan Mazinkiewicz, who is slowly becoming petrified at the City hospital. The man was taken into the hospital on the 10th of July, and has not been able to speak or even move his features, although apparently with no sense of feeling or consciousness. The doctor says that of his body, has taken no nourishment and is impregnable to pin thrusts, blows and other injuries to the body and to his surroundings.

The physicians are unable to diagnose his case. The case was first reported in the city papers, and since this theory is now doubted. Nothing is known about the man or the whereabouts of his fiancée, who is said to be a Polish girl, who may remain in this state for several months.

The other case is that of Mrs. Adolphus W. Pellagra, who is still at St. Vincent's hospital with pellagra, a rare disease in this country, although it is common in Italy and particularly in Spain. In Lombardy there are 20,000 cases of the disease, but it is only since 1867 that it has been known in this country.

Pellagra is believed to be caused by a fungus that grows on maize, also from corn, and is said to be caused by other causes are brought on by unhy-that Miss Mabel Berryman said she was married to a man who was a genetic home life. The disease is entirely hereditary in childhood, but is not contagious. It is not believed Mrs. Latrell will recover.
